Estimation software provides better cost estimates with increased accuracy. Oxalis Estimation will make your data work for you to sell with speed, confidence, and a stronger probability of closing. Created with a fast (real time) multi-user interface, our project estimating software allows you to move quickly, with transparency and precision. You will scale with confidence, knowing that secure data is powering every move.

Escape Excel

When it comes to estimation, Excel is insufficient. With limited collaborative functionality, your team is constantly at risk for errors to go undetected. This can develop potential losses and cause huge detriments to progress. Limited functionality offered by Excel is no longer worth the risk to your sensitive data.

Collaborate

No matter the size of your organization, collaboration is central within each step of the project life cycle. Our multi-user interface allows your employees, and external contractors, to work alongside each other featuring live updates and detailed communication.

Secure Access

No matter the size of your organization, collaboration is central within each step of the project life cycle. Our multi-user interface allows your employees, and external contractors, to work alongside each other featuring live updates and detailed communication.

Increase Accuracy

Work smarter, not harder. Propel new projects to success using historic data to increase the accuracy of estimates while understanding realistic resource allocation. With a full audit trail of project changes, errors are stopping in their tracks with the help of disaster recovery functionality.

Features Breakdown

One Live Platform

Watch your estimate build in real time. Oxalis Estimation is a zero click refresh platform meaning you can watch your estimate change live on screen real time as it comes together. Use this capability to understand progress, margin changes, and activity to get to bid faster. Keyboard shortcuts accelerate data entry rivalling offline spreadsheet performance. It's a pleasure to use.

Compare Margins

Compare margins with multiple rate cards per effort, a default structure for analysis, customizable configurations of pricing per effort, per material, or per labor role. Estimating management can flex these levers to produce the optimal margin for large contracts.

Full Feature File Management

Any estimate will tell you they need the spec, the request, or the diagram to estimate effectively. Associate files securely to your project or work items. Stay organized and accurate with Oxalis Estimation's file organization capability.

Import, Export, and Compare

Need to start from a price sheet or prior estimate? Oxalis Estimation can easily import previous files to help kickstart new projects. Specific users can also compare previous rate cards or create new configurations to compare unique items across various projects. Real-time exporting at any stage of the project lifecycle allows you different types of formats, to create the perfect report for clients or shareholders.

Copy Estimates, Works Items, or Lines

The power of Oxalis Estimation is its ability to leverage estimates you may have done in the past. Copy work items, schedules, labor breakdowns, steps, and more. Utilizing the Oxalis Estimation features for data reuse and best practice purposes will enhance your teams accuracy and project margin.

Assign Owners and Reviewers

Prioritize important work items by explicitly assigning specific owners or reviewers for each item or group. This explicit assignment not only helps to manage teams but also prioritizes detailed communication and interaction between users. Live updates help you keep track of progress while ensuring the accuracy of data before errors can spiral out of control.
